“ Deepest sympathy to the extended Harrison family. My most vivid memory of Alan was from my childhood on Jackson Street in Alton. I remember Alan tooling around in the family's VW van all the time. I was fascinated by their family car, so different from ours, a station wagon. Both families were large with a mix of boys and girls of similar ages. Many fond memories of playing together in our yards, the alley our driveways and sometimes even the brick street. Angie and I were often joined at the hip. Very fond memories of the entire family. My deepest condolences.

Al was always there for our family. Every time we would visit, he and Aunt Nancy would always take time from their busy schedule to visit with us. He was so special, caring and intelligent. Always made everyone feel special and loved. Miss you so, but knowing you are reunited with your love....

Al was one of the nicest men I've ever met. He was kind, thoughtful and made everybody feel special. We need more people like Al in this world. My condolences to the Harrison family/extended family.

We met Al and Nancy 54 years ago. We started out working together and going to dances at the Civic Center. We began vacationing together, starting in the Bahamas in 1980. Since then, we took cruises to Nassau, Alaska, and vacationed in the mountains every year. We never lost track of Al, because all you had to do to locate him was to listen for laughter--and he would be in the middle of it. Al laughed not only with his face, but he laughed with his entire body. Our last trip back to Alton allowed us to stay with them for a few unforgettable days. Al was probably the nicest person I have ever met, and he and Nancy were a perfect pair. The world is a sadder place now that they are gone. Rest in peace, dear friends. Al and I became acquainted through our mutual love of family history and genealogy. He and I swapped information over the years. We descended from the same great-great grandfather William Young, I from the marriage to Jane Paisley and He from the 2nd marriage to Levice Brown. My condolences to the family. The world lost a very kind man.
