“ During these most difficult times of transition, we must know that God is still in control. The older I get, the less I really realize I have in this world. Family is most important. Sometimes we say things we do not really mean, or we say it out of frustration. All I know, is that God sees the heart of man, and I know Forrest was loved by all members of his family. This is a time to put away differences and forgive. It is what he would of wanted. My condolences for everyone that was touched by his life, but also, I say rejoice, for he is with Jesus. King of this world and the next. Amen.

“ Forrest was such a little scrapper growing up. Cussing at me for not waving to him while I was in a parade. BUT, he grew into an awesome man and wore the Wulf name with pride.

“ May I offer condolences to all of Forrest's family. We all grew up together as teens and had some good times. He was always a "good kid".
