“ I had the honor of knowing your Mother for almost 20 years. I first met her as she volunteered in the emergency room area at Saint Anthonys where I continue to work. As the years went along we became good friends. She spoke often about you and your daughters and I felt like I almost knew you! She and I exchanged Christmas and birthday cards every year. The one word that most often comes to my mind when I think of Imogene is "classy". She was also one of the sweetest and most thoughtful ladies I knew and I will certainly miss her. God bless you and your family.

“ Jim... Your mom was so special to all of our family. We loved visiting with her last year and just enjoyed being with her. Don will really miss the calls and phone visits with her. You were blessed to have had her so long. We will miss her terribly..

“ Although we've never met, I wanted to tell you my path crossed your mother's a few times. My career at city hall began in 1976 in the Treasurer's office working with your Aunt Evie. She always talked about her sisters and brothers and bragged about their children and their accomplishments as if they were one of her own. Evie and I worked together for only a short time before she became ill and retired. At the same time, your Aunt Pauline was working at First National Bank with my mother-in-law, Laverne and they continued to work together until Pauline retired. Fast forward to 2004 when my mother-in-law was a patient at St. Anthony's Hospital and I struck up a conversation with a "pink" volunteer at the hospital. It was your mom. She had recognized my mother-in-law's name and knew she was a co-worker of Pauline's. I went on to tell her of my own connection with her sister Evie and from there we carried on a lengthy conversation. My mother-in-law was in and out of the hospital several times over the course of a few months and I had several wonderful conversations with your mom throughout that time. She was always so sweet and kind and friendly and had amazing energy for a woman in her 80's. I hope your family can celebrate the memory of your mother with joy.
