“ Carol,
I just heard about Jimmy as I was in NO last week. We had discussed on one of my visits the trials and tribulations your son has endured. I know you realize he is in heaven and no longer has to deal with his demons. My sincere prayers for strength and peace.

I am so deeply saddened to learn of Jimmy's passing. I am definitely in shock. I haven't seen or talked to him in years, but I never forgot about him. He was my boyfriend for a short while back in 6th or 7th grade, and we would go skating at Mr. T's. I will never forget Mr. T catching us kissing in a corner, and making us get up and go skate. Also, one time I sneaked him into my basement, and my Mom caught him in the house, and made him leave. I think my Mom scared him away, because I don't think I saw him after that. He was so cute too, I remember that! I hope this note has at least brought a smile in the midst of the sorrow and pain. I know it's always nice to hear nice things or a funny or silly story about a loved one after they are gone. May God bless his family and loved ones and comfort them at this time.

*Sincerely,
Julie Bregenzer*
