“ What can I say about my best friend that other have not already said or thought. A comrad, confidedant, someone I could rely on for anything. I'll never forget the many nights sitting by the campfire. The many road trips of 2 or 3 hours that should have taken one. It is my prayer that we will meet again and go fishing where you never lose the big one.

“ Jim, you were a great friend. You always asked about my adventures and always made me felt welcome. We met in a very unusual way, but the universe has a way of doing that to people. You were a valued friend, confidant, and camp mate. You always made sure people had food and enough of what ever you might need. You made a huge impact in so many lives. I'll always think of you when I smoke that ol pipe, and see you down the trail

“ It was truly an honor to work with Jim for so many years at AMH. He was a gentle loving soul. He always gave his best to his patients despite his own pain. Jim is in heaven with no more pain and enjoying the wonders of God's wilderness. My prayers are with the friends and family who are left behind to navigate their journey without him. Jim--keep a campfire burning.....until we meet again.

“ It's time for us to let you go.”

He always had a great pool of jokes and humor to draw from. An incredible man who raised an incredible family. His laugh and warmth will be missed. My love to those he leaves here.
