“Jon, I knew you in grade school at St. Ambrose. You were always a sweet guy and we're friends with everyone. Always happy and willing to listen. In adulthood whenever I would run into you , you always remembered me and would say"(hey remember that time...) yes I do remember. I trust that you are happy now and with Jesus. You will be missed by many. See you again and I will say "hey Jon, remember when?".....

“*Jon, you were an amazing soul, a person who brought light and warmth to everyone you met. I remember the countless times we spent together, laughing until our sides hurt. You had a way of making every moment special, whether it was a conversation or an adventure. You had an incredible ability to connect with people. You made friends effortlessly, and everyone who knew you felt lucky to have you in their lives. I'm sorry we never made it back to each other. There were so many things left unsaid, and I wish we had more time to share. You'll always hold a special place in my heart. I will cherish the memories we made, and I hope you've found peace. Love Always,
Melisa & Chloe*

I am in shock... John went out of way to be too cool to me from West Middle (1983) through this year. Wow
