“ Mom you were so resilient in lieu of all your sufferings you prevailed. My daily call @ 7 pm had two traditions; 1) you'd ask if I'd made a memory. You'd say make lots cause when you get here it's all that sustains you. 2) we had a special way of saying good bye I Love you, I love you too but I live you mote and your replies are long imbedded in my ❤️

Your love for Joe (destiny you told me, meant to be) family, your grandkids walked on water, and your brothers n sister. You often called me Ida as recently as last month.

Golf, crossword puzzles giving us all $2 bills were a few of your passions.

You shared many stories growing up w/me I wrote them down and you called on your mom 'Tootsie' when I called, asking she'd. One visit you.

I'll keep calling it was our special time for 12 years.

And yes I do and always will Live You More.

Sweetie / Joyce 🙏❤️🌹

“ In her last years, the vicissitudes of age would often only allow her the strength to speak for only ten or fifteen minutes during my visits before falling asleep.

Unfailingly, her interest was rooted in questions regarding her family particularly her great-grandchildren, Laura and Michael.

With decreased vision, she would often greet me with a surprised "JOE" before remembering that her grandson Mark was now bald, and her husband deceased.

No greater honor for me than to be mistaken for him.

On her 100th birthday, I asked her what she wished for. Her answer was simply, "To be with Joe, I have lived long enough."

Happy 103th birthday, Grandma Kay. I am glad your wish finally came true.

Say "Hi" to him for me, I miss you both.
