“ Blue was Margie's favorite color, the reason for the blue candle. I was blessed to have had a sister and there are many memories to treasure from our childhood. Margie was gifted in many ways and quite the people person especially in high school. For no fault of her own, she struggled with depression most of her adult life which is so tragic because she had the abilities to do so much. However, her greatest achievement was to give life to her daughters Jennifer (Jen) and Kathy who carry on her legacy. So that makes me blessed to be able to share their lives as she would have enjoyed. Margie, rest in peace, your time of troubles are over.
