“ I met Mike and Sybil about 4yr ago through a mutual friend. We became good friends right away. They have always been fun to hang out with and was always there when needed. Me and Mike have always joked around kinda like siblings or cousins. But when he helped me work on my vehicle's, I was like one of the guys...lol I remember when I first met him and Sybil, she was pregnant with their daughter. And he would always make fun of us because almost every time I came around, we were going for ice cream;) I became close to him and his girlfriend, Sybil right away. They were pretty much the only people I knew that I could turn to no matter what. They never judged me. We never questioned each other's friendship, intentions or loyalty. It's hard to believe that he's really gone and my heart is constantly breaking for his girlfriend right now, I know how much they love each other and meant so much to one another. Mike will definitely be missed by all who were blessed to have met him.
