As a survivor on the USS Franklin, he attended yearly USS Franklin reunions, and his dedication to his crewmates and his ship never wavered. “ Bob was a one-of-a-kind fellow. I first met him when I was taking violin lessons at LCCC. We played together in Camerata Strings and he organized a group of us to practice at his home. We were the "Kitchen Symphony" and he eventually took us "on the road" to play at nursing homes and adult day care centers. He was always a gentleman and a delightful sweet man, and it was a pleasure to be around him. His love of music and never-give-up attitude kept us playing even when we had broken strings and we outnumbered our audience! It was a privilege to have known such a remarkable man.

“ When I think of Bob, I think of the USO shows that were put on by the college. He told us wonderful stories about his days in the Navy and how he met Helen at a USO club. We worked to make the shows authentic and memorable for him and others who were in armed forces, his eyes would just light up. What an era, what great songs were written and we came to know them because of Bob. I cry when I sing For All We Know .. good bye dear friend.
