“ I first met Stan about 60 years ago when we entered East Junior High School. We both played alto saxophone in the band. We played together in the Junior High and High School bands for the next six years. We played lots of concerts, marching band and band trips together. I always enjoyed Stan and we had a good time together. We parted company after graduation when I joined the Navy and never returned to Alton to live. I saw him several times at reunions over the years. I was sad to hear that he had passed.
